Study information

Scientific Title

A randomised controlled trial of combination therapy using calcium/vitamin D and protein /calorie supplements in nutritionally deficient women: an assessment of changes in osteoporotic fracture risk

Study objectives

To investigate the effects of dietary advice and nutritional supplementation on bone mineral density.

Ethics approval required

Old ethics approval format

Ethics approval(s)

The Research Ethics Committee of the Guys and St Thomas Hospital NHS Trust gave approval

Study design

Randomised controlled trial

Primary study design

Study type(s)

Treatment

Health condition(s) or problem(s) studied

Osteoporosis

Interventions

Women meeting the entry criteria will be randomised to one of two groups:

- 1. A control group will receive calcium/vitamin D only
- 2. The second group will receive dietary advice and nutritional supplements to increase their dietary intake and calcium/vitamin D

Intervention Type

Other

Phase

Not Applicable

Primary outcome(s)

Body composition and bone mineral density (BMD), assessed at baseline and 12 months.

Key secondary outcome(s))

Biochemical markers of bone turnover, measured at baseline and at 1, 3, 6, 9 and 12 months.

Completion date

31/08/2001

Eligibility

Key inclusion criteria

- 1. Women over 70 years
- 2. Body mass index of less than 21 kg/m²
- 3. Osteoporosis at the femoral neck and/or total hip

Participant type(s)

Patient

Healthy volunteers allowed

No

Age group

Senior

Sex

Female

Key exclusion criteria

- 1. Evidence of any progressive wasting disease, e.g. carcinomatosis, severe malabsorption
- 2. Severe renal impairment (estimated glomerular filtration rate [GFR] less than or equal to 45 ml/min)
- 3. Severe cardiorespiratory diseases
- 4. Endocrine diseases, e.g., hyperparathyroidism, hyperthyroidism
- 5. Therapy with drugs known to interfere with bone metabolism such as steroids, vitamin D or its derivatives, bisphosphonates, oestrogen, raloxifene
- 6. Cognitive impairment (abbreviated mental test score 7 or below)
