Study information

Scientific Title

Evaluation of the impact of age progressed images on consumers in Shanghai: a randomized controlled trial

Study objectives

We hypothesize that participants will prefer an age projected image of themselves that simulates the impact of a healthier lifestyle, in comparison to an age projected image of a less healthy lifestyle

A secondary aim is to test whether viewing simulated photos showing the potential impact of a healthier (versus less healthy) lifestyle will increase intentions towards healthier lifestyle behaviors, in comparison to a control group who have not seen the photos
